PANAMA Canal Situation Update #13

Dear Valued Customers,

With the improving situation surrounding the Panama Canal, our EC2 service will return transiting through the Panama Canal both eastbound and westbound, beginning with the Tayma Express 0029E.

Other services are also in consideration for the resumption of Panama transits. Further vessel review is ongoing and the findings will be reflected on the live update page, which is available here. If a permanent change back to the Panama Canal for other services is made, a further advisory will be put forward.

We will continue to update the vessel list as information becomes available.

Sincerely,
Ocean Network Express (North America) Inc.
