"We wanted to find some appropriate wording for ONE that was simple, but which cut straight to the point and also under-pinned our corporate values. Something, with enhanced energy and determination, that symbolised a collective desire in an uncertain world to overcome all challenges before us. Bringing together all our many nationalities and cultures, to be a worthy and significant "servant of global trade".", Mr. Jeremy Nixon added.

Together with this corporate slogan, we wish to continue bringing you -our valued customers and business partners- together, unifying you all with a positive focus on the future shipping industry.
